Sandy, I’m writing to you to invite you to my wedding! That’s right! I’m getting married! Do you remember Steve, the man I told you in my last letter? I met him at my uncle’s house five months ago. Oh, Sandy, we love each other, and I just know he’s my Mr. Right.

Anyway, the wedding is here in Kaohsiung, and it’s on January 1st, 2011. I know it’s difficult and expensive to fly to Taiwan, but it would make me so happy if you could join me on this special day. Please try!

When I was a child, I could not wait to see the world. I grew like the spring flowers in the garden.

When I was a teenager, I could not wait to leave home. I did not want to follow any rules, and I was as angry as the burning sun in the summer sky.

But then, I learned to think carefully before doing anything. Both good and bad things in the past became parts of my life, like autumn harvests for a farmer.

Now I am old. My body is weak, but my mind has become strong and clear because of those experiences in my younger days. I am like a winter leaf, ready to take a good rest.

These are the four seasons of my life.
